As the best preparation for the study of the Organ, the Student should devote the first two years to Piano practice. The third and fourth years will be given to Organ practice.

Only Standard Text-books will be used.

Students who wish to study the Organ and do not know the rudiments of Music, will be required to learn them on the Piano.

Careful Instruction will be given in Harmony. Private Lessons in Vocal Music will be given at same price as Instrumental.

Public Recitals and Normal Training will be special features. Sight Singing Classes and Classes for Beginners will be formed each term.—These classes will form Clubs and sing for Recitals, social and public Entertainments. The whole School is organized into Vocal Classes, using the National Method.

The School has three Pianos and two Organs, and an experienced Teacher who devotes her whole time to this department.

We advise Students to begin at the first of the Term so as to have the advantage of the practice.

Industrial Department.

Ballard Hall.

Mr. Stephen Ballard of Brooklyn, has erected, at a cost of Five Thousand Dollars, a large brick building for the Industrial Department. It is two stories high, and 100 x 40 feet. In the rear is a Blacksmith Shop, 30 x 40 feet, containing three forges and a full equipment of anvils, drills and other machinery and tools. The main building contains,—on first floor, a Carpenter Shop with engine, saws, lathes and other wood-working machinery; a Wheelwright Shop, well fitted with benches and tools. On the second floor are the Painting, Trimming and Harness Shops.

Slater Fund,—Special Appropriation.

The Trustees of the Slater Fund, through the Rev. Dr. Haygood, general agent, have made a special appropriation to Clark University, in order to make some experiments in the line of industrial education. More instructors will be engaged, and new tools added, thus greatly increasing our facilities for giving thorough instruction in the various trades. Young men and women who desire to become skilled wage-earners, are advised to consider the advantages here offered.

Courses of Instruction.

Systematic Courses of Instruction will be followed by the Managers of each department, covering the care and use of the various tools, and the practical details of each trade, combined with mechanical drawings and draughting. After the completion of any Course, and an examination by experts, certificates will be given on the succeeding Commencement Day by the President of the University.

Regulations.

Although the Industrial Departments are maintained at a heavy expense, no charge is made for tuition. As we give instruction that will enable students to earn large wages in the future, we expect them cheerfully to do whatever work is assigned them, subject to the following rules:--

1. The University Work-Hour cannot be done in the shops except by special permission.
2. Every Student must take some trade on entering School and follow it till completed, taking at least one Practice Hour each day.
3. By special contract, Students who are adjudged worthy of aid, will be paid at the rate of ten cents per hour for extra work, to be credited to board account.
4. No pay will be allowed for single hours, but for nothing less than five consecutive hours.

Work of Departments.

During the past year work has been done as follows, though only the merest outline can be given in so small a space:—

CARPENTER SHOP.

Tables, Book.Cases, Ornaments for houses made on lathes and scroll saw, finishing of Ballard Hall, and the general repairs on buildings.

CARRIAGE SHOP.

Surreys, Buggies, Piano-Wagons, fine platform spring Drays, common Drays and Wagons. The shop has orders ahead, and makes as fine work as any in the city.

HARNESS SHOP.

A large variety of elegant and common carriage Harnesses; and also heavier kinds for farm and dray use.

PRINTING OFFICE.

The Elevator, a twelve-page bi-monthly paper, Catalogues of Gammon School of Theology and of Clark University, Minutes of Savannah Conference; all the University printing, including programmes, letterheads, reports, &c.,&c., and general Job Printing for city firms. We are now willing to put our work in competition with the best.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

In this department an exhibition of 157 articles was made at Commencement, comprising finely made Dresses, domestic articles, undergarments and fancy work, all done by the students. Besides these there were many samples of Drafting.

FARM.

Large crops have been raised, and a large area is under cultivation, but no systematic instruction has been given. Mr. H. M. Sessions, for six years with the Atlanta University as manager of the farm, has been engaged for the same position at Clark University, and a School of Farming will be established

Nurse Training Department.

This department will be conducted under the direction of the resident Physician, assisted by some of the best medical talent in the city.

There will be two Courses, Professional and Non-Prosessional. The course of instruction will embrace the details of caring for the sick; poisons and their antidotes, and duties in all emergencies. The large practice of the resident physician, inside and outside the school, will give plenty of practical work for the students.

Candidates for graduation must take a two years' course and pass a satisfactory examination.

Applicants for admission must be at least eighteen years of age, in good health, possessed of a good English education, and able to furnish testimonials as to moral character.

Trained nurses can always find employment and earn large wages, and the fact that thousands are dying in the South for lack of proper care, makes this a very inviting profession to those who wish to do good to their fellowmen.

Apply early for positions as the Professional class will be limited in number. No expense will be spared to furnish the best instruction and facilities for work.

For full particulars, address D. Moury, M. D.

Domestic Economy.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

THAYER HOME, the new Girls' Industrial Building, which we expect will be ready to occupy at the opening of the Fall Term, is situated on Clark University Campus, one hundred feet west of Warren Hall. It is a large frame building with ample halls and verandas. On the first floor is the Reception Room, Office, Library, a large Recitation Room for the Sewing Department (also arranged for a Lecture Room), Dining Room, Kitchen with pantry and store-room, and a Class-room for Cooking Classes. On the second floor are the Sleeping Rooms. In the basement is the Laundry, a Vegetable Cellar and the Coal-bins.

The object of the Home is to develop and strengthen every characteristic to a true and complete womanhood. The Home also seeks, by its organized missionary and temperance work and through its influence, to prepare students for the present need of Women Christian Workers.

It designs to give young women an opportunity for Industrial Training that shall better fit them for their work in life, whatever that work may be. The work of the Home is designed for practical instruction.—In the Class-work in the different departments, students are credited with their proficiency in it as in other studies. Nothing is paid for.

In the Dress-making Department, the S. T. Taylor system is taught. Students who complete this course of instruction and prove themselves to have a practical knowledge of dress-making, receive a Certificate of Graduation. Students in the Dress-making Department, who are proficient, can work extra hours and receive pay for it.

For the coming year another teacher will be employed and the classes more systematically arranged. Cooking Classes will also be organized.

Lectures during the year will be given in the Lecture Room of the Home.

For further particulars, address FLORA MITCHELL, Supt.

Students are admitted to all the privileges of the school without regard to color, sect, or sex.

CLASSES.

We cannot start classes to suit the convenience of late comers.

Classes in Latin and Greek and higher Mathematics are generally started in the Fall Term, or when the regular class is ready for them. Students behind a class, even in one study, are ranked with the next lower class until the deficiency is made up.

STUDENT'S AID.

Do not come expecting help, unless you make definite arrangements beforehand. We generally require students to pay for two months, at least, in advance, so that we can learn whether they are worthy of aid. It is thought best to cultivate a feeling of independence by requiring students to work for help allowed. In some cases we grant loans to advanced students.

A student of good moral character, diligence, and ability will always find some way to finish his education.

EXPENSES.

Board is charged by the calendar month and students are required to pay monthly in advance. By order of the Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, this Rule must be strictly enforced, and parents must not be offended with the officers of the school if their children are sent home on a failure to pay bills promptly. It is safer to deposit all surplus money with the treasurer.

Board, including washing, fuel, lights and bedding, per month,.....$10 00
Incidental Fee for Day Students,..... 1 00

Students are required to furnish only soap, towels and table-napkins. No discounts made to any person.

All boarders must deposit $2, from which will be deducted fines for damage to room furniture, rooms and public buildings.

The University, through its Industrial De¡ artments, furnishes unusual opportunities to work out a large part of the expenses, making it in reality one of the cheapest schools in the South.

Direct all letters and express packages to Clark University, Atlanta, Ga. Trouble and delay will be saved by sending money direct to the President, who will send receipt. Make out money orders in the name of E. O. Thayer, and thus avoid delays and mistakes.

LOCATION.

Atlanta, being easily reached by railroads from every direction, is especially adapted for the location of a school. Clark University is on a high, heavily wooded ridge, where there is plenty of pure air and water. There are several fine mineral springs on the grounds. 400 acres afford ample room for healthful recreation. We are near enough to the city for business purposes, and far enough to render it easy to keep the students away from its temptations. The East Tenn., Va. & Ga. R.R. will land students close to the College.

If you take a hack at the depot, require the driver to promise to take you to Clark University, on Capitol Avenue. Horse cars running to the campus, leave the Pryor St. end of Union Depot every half hour during the day. The University does not transfer Students or baggage.

WARREN HALL.

Warren Hall is the new building for the use of the ladies. It contains forty-five Dormitories, a large Reading Room, large Kitchens and Lauudries, and a Dining room capable of seating three hundred persons. One-half the cost of the erection was donated by Rev. E. H. Gammon.

LIBRARY.

All students have the use of the University Library, and also of the valuable collection of religious and theological works in the library of the School of Theology.

The Reading Rooms are well supplied with secular and religious papers and magazines.

APPARATUS.

The fine apparatus, presented by Mrs. E. H. Gammon, adds great interest to the study of the natural sciences.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are five Literary Societies in the University, two conducted by the ladies and three by the gentlemen. There is also one in the School of Theology.

TO PARENTS.

You may be certain that your children will be under the best influences if they board in the building. Especial attention is given to Bible study and religious training. Preaching services, Sunday School and Prayer Meetings are held on the Sabbath, and Prayer and Class Meetings during the week.

Send your children on the first day of the term; never on Sunday.

Give them warm clothing, towels, napkins and soap, but little extra money. Write to the President if you hear rumors that they are sick. A skillful resident physician attends to the students at low rates.

Send no boxes of food without enclosing money for doctor's bill.

Never send your children unless you intend to keep them here as long as you believe them to be treated well. Homesickness is frequent the first month, but easily cured.

Do not furnish your children with expensive clothing at any time, especially at Commencement. If you send your children to us, you must allow the teachers to regulate matters of dress while in school. High-heeled shoes, unnecessary dresses, and any injurious article of wear, sent to students, will be returned by express or held till the student returns home.

Provide your daughters with dark dresses and skirts.

TO STUDENTS.

Your entrance into the school is considered a promise to obey the rules and to be prompt and diligent.

We bear patiently with troublesome students as long as we think there is hope for reform, but the following misdemeanors bring immediate suspension, viz.: Keeping or using fire-arms; the use of tobacco, liquor, cards, or profanity; repeated disobedience of any rule.

Visits cannot be made or received on Sunday.

Young men who do not live at home cannot board out of the Institution without special permission.—Young ladies cannot board outside of College building, except at home, under any circumstances.

Students will be required to dress plainly. At Commencement the young ladies will be required to wear dresses of cheap material, and made, as far as possible, with their own hands in the sewing classes.

Young ladies will not be allowed to wear white dresses or skirts from Nov. 1st to April 15th, and during the remainder of the year only at public entertainments. They must be laundried outside the School at the expense of the student.

† The work of this Chair is at present divided among the other Professors.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The aim of this School is to do practical work in helping men towards success in the Ministry. Its course of study is broad and practical; its ideals are high; its work is thorough; its methods are fresh, systematic, clear and simple. The course of study and methods of instruction are adapted to the culture and capacity of those who seek its advantages. The design of the School is to send out earnest, practical, evangelical Preachers who shall do intelligent and loyal service for Christ and the Church.

Each candidate for admission to the School must bring satisfactory testimonials from the Official Board or Quarterly Conference of his church, as to his personal religious character and fitness for the Ministry. If already a Minister, he should produce his credentials.

Ministers and candidates of all evangelical denominations are welcome to the full privileges of the Institution. Applicants from other churches will bring certificates from their pastors or other church officials.

The School of Theology grants free tuition as well as free rooms to its regular students. Aid from loans without interest and gifts of friends is granted to deserving students. No young man with grace, gifts and energy, need be deprived of the advantages now opened in this School.

Students having the degree of A. B., or an equivalent, and who complete and pass a satisfactory examination on the course of study, will receive the degree or Bachelor of Divinity. Students who are not college graduates, but who are far enough advanced to enter and complete the course, will receive the Diploma of the School on graduation. Those who take the partial course of study, covering two years, and who pass satisfactory examination thereon, will receive a certificate from the Institution to that effect.

The campus already contains Gammon Hall, three commodious and elegant Swiss and Queen Anne houses for Professors' families, and several cottages for married students, with the promise of soon having a fine separate fire-proof Library building.

Students have free access to the Theological Library of about 7,000 volumes, consisting of works in all departments of theology and related branches, and to the Reading Room, which is supplied with the leading Reviews, homiletic Magazines, religious and secular Papers, and general reference books.

There are Lectures by distinguished ministers, and a Preachers' Assembly.

All expenses are kept at the lowest possible point.

The Catalogue of the Gammon School of Theology and full information can be had by addressing the President,
